Dear Parent/Carers

Today marks the last day of the spring term. Easter is earlier than usual and this afternoon, we break up for the Easter holidays and the bank holiday weekend that begins tomorrow. Christians believe that the Easter story, the death and resurrection of Jesus, is one of darkness and light. Jesus in the tomb of darkness rising to heaven and the divine light. Many faiths have these two key elements as part of their own beliefs and religions. In Buddhist doctrine Light is the source of goodness and the ultimate reality. In Hinduism, Diwali — the festival of lights — is a celebration of the victory of light over darkness. The Easter eggs that hopefully the children will receive this weekend, are symbols of newness and birth. So really the Easter break is about starting again. It is apt then that as the evenings get lighter, we all start to feel a bit better. No longer cooped up in the home, we can see others in an outdoor space together. The darkness is fading and the light becoming stronger.

The children and staff are rightly tired from their work and it is important to revive ourselves with a break. However, we have so much to do and I already have received a copy of the plans that teachers want to teach the children next term. There is excitement in the air and a child's thirst for knowledge twinned with a good attitude leads to a positive climate for learning. I am already looking forward to seeing children learn and develop from Monday 19th April.

In today's assembly, I spoke about the value we have been focussing on this week-understanding. It is important that we all try to understand each others' points of view before accusing one another. Take a look at this illustration;

Let's try to understand each other's point of view before we react. Pausing and considering another's point of view allows us the time to respond. Not always easy but it's something our children would benefit from as they continue to get to know each other from lockdown.

Have lovely Easter break. Thank you for your continued support of the school.

Parents Evening !

Well done if you kept your online parents' evening appointment this week. Teachers had a number of parents who booked but then unfortunately missed their slot. Face to face meetings are tricky until we have further restrictions lifted we cannot allow them. Do get in touch with your child's class teacher via ClassDojo if you would like to have a chat about your child's progress.

READING

A really important reminder to all children to read as much as possible over the Easter break! Remember reading includes your levelled books, your own books, magazines, recipes, shopping lists, anything !!

Please try to encourage your children to write as much as possible too. This could be a little diary each night, writing the shopping list, writing a story, anything !!

Thank you

Miss Peapell and Miss Mitchell

Can you spot your work?
