

Seven Fields Primary School-Newsletter

Dear Parents/carers

Did you know that there are less than 3 week's left until the end of this academic year? I cannot believe that it passes so quickly as each day is full of fun and learning and seems to start early and finish late.

This week we have witnessed our Year 6 pupils attending induction days at their new secondary provisions. This is an exciting but also quite scary moment for them as they make the move from being the 'Big fish' to become the new minnows in a larger pond. They are ready for this transition though. Our pupils are communicative, independent and confident. They will need to work on their resilience over the next few weeks and of course, the first few weeks of the Autumn term. Mr Donnelly, Miss Grimwood and Mrs Muir have all been in contact with the secondary providers to pass on the information we have about our children so that they are best placed to start their new school smoothly. Next week your child, if they are staying at Seven Fields, will move to their new classrooms and meet their new teachers. This is a great opportunity for us to see how well pupils can get on with each other and their new classmates. In September we will be creating parallel mixed classes so that we can ensure better consistency of learning experience for each child. This means that when planning, teachers will be able to target provision to your child's level more accurately.

This week we had a lockdown practice which gives us a chance to keep the pupils secure in case of any unwanted intruder. We were due to have this last term and as such we will need to hold another one before the end of the calendar year. Your child may have spoken about it but please reassure them that we are here to keep them safe.

We were visited by Swindon library this week who launched their summer reading challenge to KS1 and KS2 pupils. Please help us to raise the profile of reading over the summer months by encouraging your child to take part in the challenge.

In assembly this week, we have been thinking about the value of fairness. Being fair to oneself is just as important as being fair to each other. Sometimes we come across things and events that do not seem fair to us but we cannot change them. It is our response to such situations that sets us aside as good citizens. As adults we often hear children say 'that's not fair' but we tend to dismiss their protestation because we feel irritated. Sometimes, when children understand the reason for decisions they come to understand that not everything can be fair but our reaction to these situations ensures our mental health is positive and our emotional responses are balanced.

I have been so proud of the PTA who have worked so hard to prepare for the summer fete tomorrow. They have had to negotiate with external partners and I have been humbled by the amount of support you have given them, be that by bringing bottles or cakes into school or by helping sell tickets or set up stalls. It would be lovely to see everyone visit the school tomorrow and support the PTA at our summer fete. The money raised goes to providing for your children. Let's hope the weather stays dry.

Regards

D Booth
