

Seven Fields Primary School-Newsletter

Dear Parents/Carers,

How do you cope with disappointment? This is one of the questions I am asking myself the day after Swindon Town failed to reach Wembley. There are some dejected faces around school this morning and I imagine the wet weather is exacerbating the overall disappointment. However, they will come back stronger next year and that is the correct response. When we face disappointment in school, we always encourage our pupils to be resilient but also we ask them to follow these five steps.

1. Acknowledge what you are feeling.
2. Put and keep things in perspective.
3. Do not doubt yourself.
4. Look for solutions or compromises.
5. Reassess and make adjustments, if necessary.

Our value of the week has been about co-operation and the Mag 7 is looking after the school. The looking after the school part is not just about the materials, keeping it litter free and tidy but also about looking after each other. The emotional wellbeing of other people becomes our focus when we see disappointment. Our job at this time is to overtly show the person who is disappointed that every cloud has a silver lining. Sometimes that might involve a difficult conversation with a friend or colleague but we are here to build positivity and reinforce confidence.

How fitting then that next week, we are looking forward to celebrating the Queen's jubilee in school. Children will be learning about the decades that the queen has reigned over. They will get to design their own crowns, listen to some traditional music from our partners at Kingsdown and even have a tea party!

Congratulations to the boys football team for a hard fought close match at Swindon Academy. The behaviour and comportment of the team was exemplary.

We hope that next week we continue to live and breathe the value of cooperation and I hope that this weekend is kind to you all.
