

Seven Fields Primary School-Newsletter

Dear Parents/Carers

It has been an extra tiring week having been once again visited by our Ofsted colleagues. Pupils and staff were able to demonstrate how much progress that is being made. I was proud of the way pupils behaved, responded to staff and inspectors and how hard they worked demonstrating our core values of Independence, Confidence and Resilience. We await the final report which will be due after half term and we will make sure everyone receives a copy. Thank you for those of you who went to Parent View to fill in your thoughts about the school. These were taken into consideration by the 3 HMI's (Her Majesty Inspectors) In order to avoid questionnaire fatigue, I have decided to postpone the parent questionnaire I spoke about in last week's newsletter until later in the year. I do still want to capture all parents thoughts so please do continue to look out for it.

Our SRE consultation has now closed. The responses to the questionnaire that was on our website for 6 weeks confirms that parents are satisfied with our approach to Sex and relationships education through the Jigsaw PSHE programme. We hope to invite parents to a face to face meeting about our approach before the end of this academic year.

Our value this week continues to be about respect and in assembly this afternoon, I recounted the story of Elijah and the old woman from the Bible. We can often overlook what's in front of us and even though some people may not think you are valuable there are others who think you are particularly important. The clear message from the story of course being that we should try to treat everyone we meet with respect, especially people who are often undervalued. We should remember that if we treat people with respect, they are much more likely to treat us with respect.

I do hope that this weekend you get an opportunity to relax. Ofsted inspections are always challenging and I know the staff and pupils have earned a well deserved break. Try switching off electronic devices and simply enjoy the company of others. There is always so much to talk about.

Have a lovely weekend.

D Booth
