

Seven Fields Primary School-Newsletter

Dear Parents/Carers

As we head towards Easter, it is worth remembering that the school will finish next Thursday (normal time) and not on Friday as this is a bank holiday. This means that when we come back after the Easter break, on 19th April, we will be officially in the summer term.

It is fitting then that the clocks move forward an hour over the weekend to accommodate better transport conditions and we can enjoy the longer, lighter evenings. It does mean that we lose an hour's sleep on Saturday night so please don't get caught out on Monday morning bringing your children to school.

Children have shown great levels of resilience and co-operation this week. They have all had to complete their PIRA and PUMA tests as appropriate and this requires a calm environment and lots of concentration. When not completing these assessments, children have been looking after the school. I want to officially thank the digital leaders this week for making sure all devices were ready to go in school. I also want to thank our team of library volunteers who have spent a long time getting our library back to what it was before. It is such a lovely space now that teachers choose to have their socially distanced meetings there. Thanks to Courtney I, Lilly M, Esmee C and Maria T for giving up some of their break and lunch to support. They have co-operated brilliantly.

In assembly this week I continued with the school value of co-operation and working together and showed the children this short video. Some of you may have already seen it but if you watch it again more closely you will see that as a team no one person could scale the wall for themselves, they all needed help from the first to the last and all team members didn't just do things for themselves but often helped each other first before scaling the wall. It was only by cooperating that they achieved success. It makes me think that we all can scale what seems unsurmountable on our own if we work together.

Have a great weekend everyone

Mr Booth

Face coverings on site!

There have been a number of parents who have expressed concern about other parents not wearing face coverings when dropping off and picking up. Please be aware that you may well be challenged by a member of staff if you haven't got a face covering. We all forget now and again but those who repeatedly forget will be asked to leave for the sake of others. The school reserves the right to prevent anyone from entering the school site if they are putting others at risk. Please be considerate.

You can get a hundred disposable masks for less than £9 on Amazon.

Wonderful work gallery

I have been sent some wonderful work that your teachers would like to particularly celebrate.

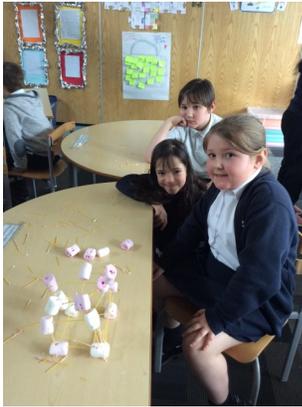

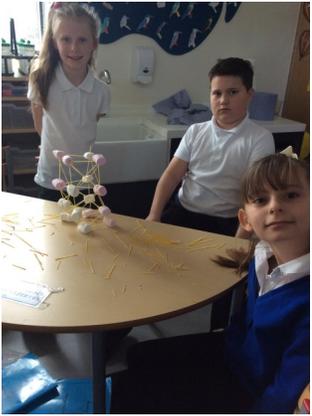

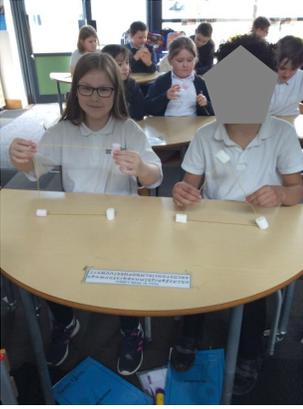

Can you spot your work?

Well done if you were nominated this week and if you weren't, don't worry. Have a go next week!
