

Seven Fields Primary School-Newsletter

Dear Parent/carer

As we reach the end of September, the nights are drawing in and the mornings are certainly darker. It's a sign that change is upon us and that as that change takes place we also have to change or adjust with it.

Children have worked extremely hard this week and they continue to impress me with their knowledge, skills and understanding of the units of work they are completing. This week I was shown work from a variety of subjects. Year 6 have been mixing colours, shades and tones in art, Puffins are continuing to study the Victorians as part of their history unit, this week they have been using secondary sources to look at dress differences. The children in Fireflies have been studying their story of the week 'Colour Monster' as well as showing off their physical prowess outside. Bumblebees have been painting self portraits and Falcons have been using column addition methods in mathematics. I am always amazed at the key content that teachers want our pupils to learn. The disciplinary knowledge that pupils learn today will help them to know and remember more in the future.

Please take note of the forthcoming dates for parents evenings. This will be your opportunity to meet your child's class teacher and discuss how well they have started their school year as well as finding out what support you can give them when they are at home. Appointments will be available to be booked from 9am on Monday morning at: <https://sevenfields.schoolcloud.co.uk/>

Miss Smith took assembly this week and she focussed on the importance of showing kindness and good manners. Our children have come such a long way with this since it was introduced. Often I see children hold doors, show kindness in corridors and they even remind each other and adults about the importance of saying please and thank you. I am so proud of them. As my grandmother used to say. 'Manners cost nothing'

This week our vending machine 'Charles' was inundated with book reviews. So much so that we had to split the randomiser between KS1 and KS2. I am so pleased that this is encouraging our children to read more and I hope that you are continuing to listen to your child read and making a comment in their reading diary. Reading fluency is key to enabling children to access longer and more complex texts. Practice makes perfect. Congratulations to all our winners this week.

Enjoy the weekend

D Booth

Quinn and Twyla for being excellent Seven Fields role models

They are back! Hot chocolate Fridays have returned and we would like to say a huge well done to the following children for receiving the most dojos in their class this week:

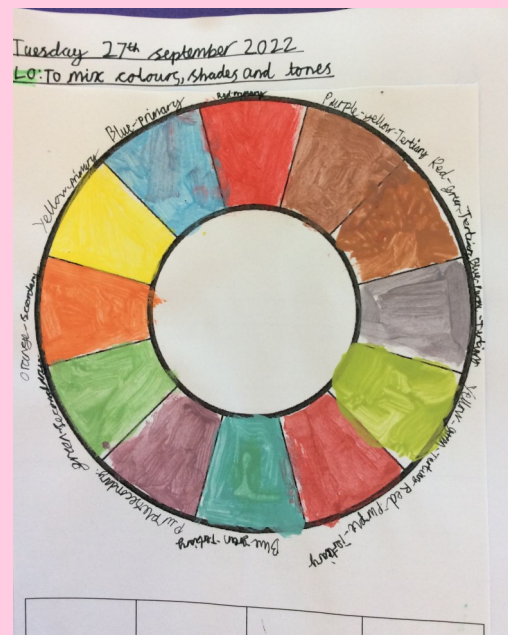

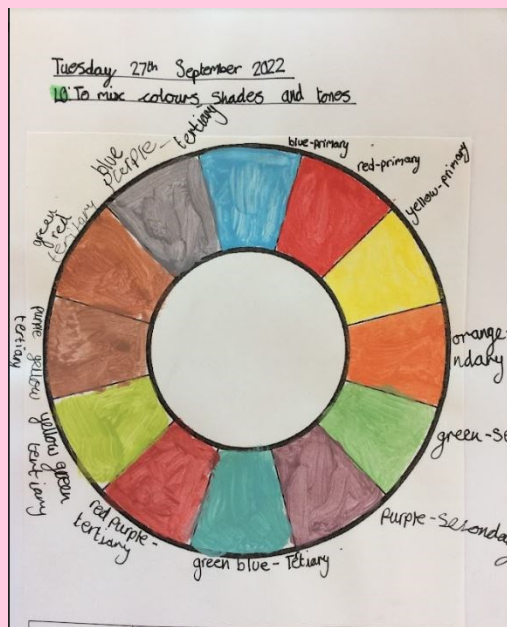

Tyler, Martin, Cory, Oscar, Abdul, Alexander, Darcie-Mae, Freyja and Freya

This month in Young Carers club we went back to nature with an Autumn scavenger hunt out on the school field. We were amazed at what we found! We even had some mini beasts hitch a ride back inside with us where we created our collages.

This week Kestrels have been mixing colours, shades and tones in Art lessons.

Bumblebee class have been painting self portraits this week.

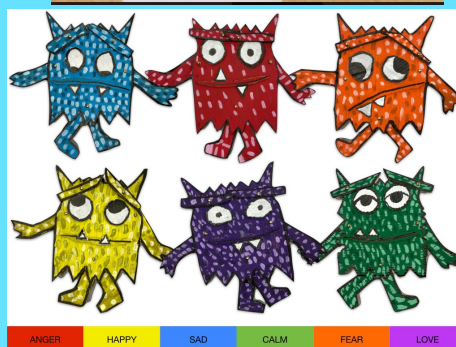

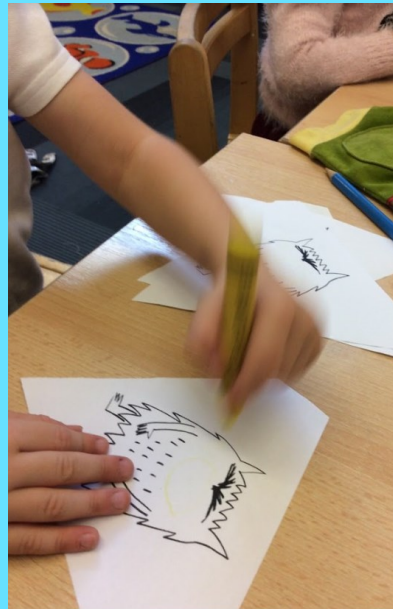

Can you guess who is who?

The children in Puffin class have been looking at The Victorians and how life was for them during their History lesson this week.

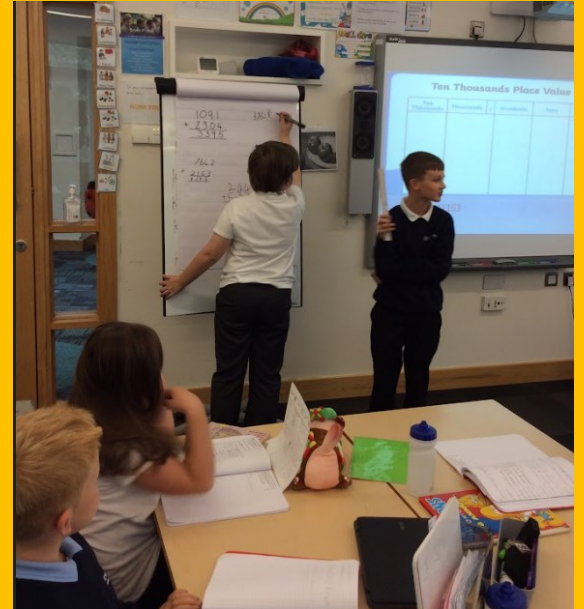

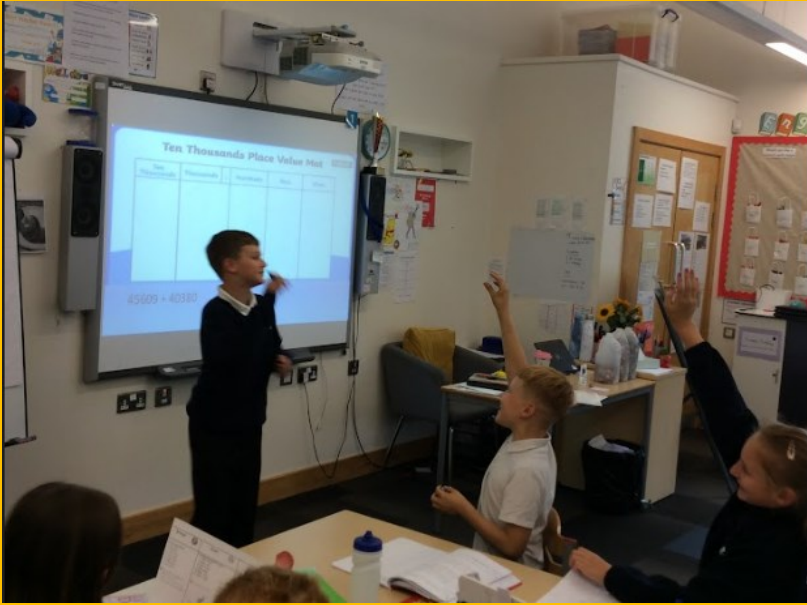

Fireflies have been very busy using a multitude of skills when playing outside. They have also been reading their story of the week The Colour Monster together. Also this week they have been practicing their art skills by painting self portraits.
