Value: Honesty
Mag 7: Never says I can't

Seven Fields Primary School-Newsletter

Dear Parents/Carers

Lighter mornings remind me that spring is on the way and Spring is a time of great growth. The energy and eagerness of the children to learn more always astounds us and it's such a privilege to see them grow and shine on a daily basis. This week we had a visitor from the River Learning Trust and it was lovely to receive the feedback that the atmosphere in school is 'calm and purposeful.'

As the weather improves our football team played against Tregoze Primary last night. I was so impressed by their hard work and team spirit. Sadly we lost a very tight game on penalties but all of the team should be proud of their efforts. Well done Team Seven Fields!

This week our value in school was honesty. In assembly this week we read 'The Boy Who Cried Wolf' and discussed the importance of being honest.

'Being honest never hurts anyone, being a liar only hurts you'

Today saw World Book day with children reading together, adults sharing their favourite books and even a classroom door competition. Staff decorated the doors around school with their favourite books and children got to choose the winners. Photographs are included in this newsletter.

I wish you a fantastic and restful weekend !

Mrs Young

Hello, Miss Peapell and Miss Mitchell here!

We take care of reading and writing in the school. World book day is one of our favourite days of the school year! Today has been a phenomenal day of celebrating reading with the children. The children have enjoyed sharing their favourite books with their peers, buddy reading with younger children, creating their own characters and making their own comic stories. Our aim is to create a school where children love reading. If you have any questions about how you can help your child with reading or what we are doing in school, please feel free to ask. Look out for more fun reading days, we have lots of ideas!

Why not try and share a new (to them) book with your child this weekend?

Miss Peapell and Miss Mitchell
